Study rooms are available to patrons in Joyner Library. Study rooms are designated either as small or group study rooms. Small study rooms are generally intended for use by 1-2 people and group study rooms are generally intended for use by 3-10 people.

Most study rooms may be reserved by ECU affiliated patrons for a designated period. Details concerning the reservation process are found on the library's web page.

When not reserved, study rooms are available to patrons on a first-come, first-serve basis with the exceptions of those study rooms for designated users. Rooms may occasionally become unavailable due to special events or building maintenance needs. At any time there may be occasional brief interruptions for Housekeeping staff to perform various tasks as needed.
