1. As a member of the Federal Depository Library Program, and in accord with ECU's mission to serve the broader regional community, Joyner Library will provide at least the same level of access and service for electronic federal government information as it does for other electronic resources. These services will be provided without charge, except for specialized functions such as printing.

2. Web-based federal government information products will be made fully accessible via the Joyner Library website. Possible access points include, but are not limited to: the library catalog, database list, subject guides, and the federal documents web pages.

3. Tangible electronic government information products will either be made accessible via selected library workstations or allowed to circulate on an as-needed basis.
