The North Carolina depository microfiche collection consists of microfiche supplied under the North Carolina state depository law. The purpose of this collection is to provide fair and equal access to the largest number of patrons; therefore, microfiche is restricted to use in the collection.

To facilitate the availability to North Carolina citizens, the North Carolina depository materials are not copyrighted. Fiche copies may be obtained at a nominal cost in the Government Documents & Microforms Department. Paper copies may be made using reader/printers in the North Carolina Collection or if necessary in other locations in the library.

Upon request, the Interlibrary Services Department will make fiche or paper copies to send to other libraries.
